RICOH
imagine. change.

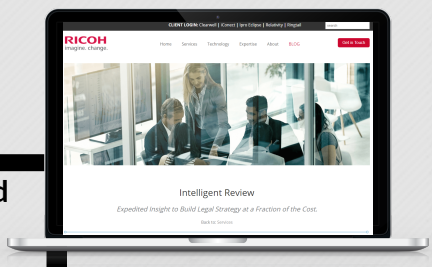
When should I Engage With an External Review Team?

DO YOU HAVE DOCUMENTS TO REVIEW?

NO

You don't need an external review team.

(Engage with one when you have documents to review!)



YES

Q: Do you have the resources to review the documents within your clients' deadline?

NO

Time to engage with an external review team!

An external review team can ramp up resources quickly and meet even the tightest deadline.

YES

Q: Can your resources review the documents in a way that is cost-effective for your client?

NO

Sorry to hear!

Engage with an external review team when legal costs become dispropostionate with your client's case.

YES

Q: Would you prefer that your resources spend time on high value work?

NO

No problem!

(Engage with an external review team when things change.)

YES

Great! Engage with an external review team to keep your team focused on high value work - and save your client time and money.

DID YOU KNOW?

82%

Of our matters leverage Advanced Analytics

40%

Average review time savings

50%

Average review cost savings

40%

Average fewer reviewers required

"This was the best experience we have ever had with outsourced review"

- Senior Associate, National Law Firm

"Intelligent Review is a game changer for our law firm"

- Senior Associate, Global Law Firm

Intelligent Review from Ricoh eDiscovery

If you don't have internal resources available to effectively review your clients' documents – whether it's 500 or 5,000,000 – we are here to help.

While we describe Ricoh's Intelligent Review solution as an analytics-driven, systematic approach to document review, we know every case is unique and some don't require the use of advanced technology. We will work directly with your team to develop a solution that will meet your unique requirements and provide exceptional insight and value that you can pass on to your clients – regardless of the size of the case.

www.ricohediscovery.com

RICOH
imagine. change.

Ricoh eDiscovery, Suite 901 - 145 Wellington St. W, Toronto.

Ricoh Canada © 2019